Sustainable Practices:

At Elk Prairie Vineyard we dry farm all our wine grapes on untilled earth.

We do not use any pesticides or artificial fertilizers and we only use sulfur dust as a prevention for powdery mildew.

Currently producing fewer than 700 cases per year, we truly handcraft our wines starting with slow fermentations in small half-ton macro bins located outdoors in the shade of the winery.

Owned By:

Elk Prairie Vineyard is owned by Alan and Sandra Estrada. It was established on Fruitland Ridge in 1992.

Warm days and cool nights with a kiss of fog rising from the Eel River below help create the magic that grows our wine grapes.

The wines are handled minimally and aged in 30 percent new French oak, unfiltered and unfinned.
