Sustainable Practices:

We handcraft all our products at our shop which is run entirely by an off-grid solar PV, wind and micro-hydro system.

All packaging is chosen with waste and recycling efficiency in mind. All office papers are recycled content and we recycle everything else that we can.

We re-use even more—including all shipping materials. We have offset our carbon emissions (home and business) twice.

Once by planting trees through “Trees for the Future” (for the future) and once through renewable energy and energy conservation projects through CarbonFund.org (for the here and now).

We use organic ingredients when and where we can. All herbs and grains and other such additives are always organic and local if possible.

Our base oils are organic when ever the price is within one third of the conventional, but we do not note this on our labels or printed material as the case is always changing.

Affordable, non-toxic, biodegradable, high quality come first along with using natural ingredients.

We do not test anything on animals, but we do test everything on ourselves and family and no new product is released without a year of use here first.

Making natural, safe, quality body care available for everyone at a price that makes it affordable for everyday use it our goal.
