Sustainable Practices:

Tofu Shop is a certified organic food processor. One-hundred percent (100%) of our agricultural ingredients are grown free from synthetic pesticides, fertilizers or genetically-modified organisms. Growing organically conserves soil and water and enhances biodiversity. We source an increasing number of our ingredients from local organic farms.

Tofu Shop is a leader in waste reduction. We divert over 99% of our waste from landfills by reuse, recycling and composting. Tofu Shop is a nine time winner of California's annual Waste Reduction Award (WRAP). Forty percent (40%) of our products are sold in bulk, food service packaging to cut down on packaging waste.

As a locally-owned business, we are connected to the well-being of our community on many levels. Our primary mission is to provide our community with healthy food. We specialize in food products that are minimally processed, certified organic, vegan, and gluten-free. We're committed to providing a right and stimulating livelihood for our employees and a safe, clean facility in which to work. We support a wide variety of local/regional groups and non-profits with donation for fundraisers, and work closely with our local food bank, North Coast Resource Center.

Owned By:

Matthew Schmit moved to Arcata in 1980, bringing his established tofu business with him from Colorado.

Tofu Shop employs 18-20 skilled workers. Eighty percent (80%) of Tofu Shop products are distributed locally to markets, delis and restaurants. Twenty percent (20%) are shipped to co-ops and natural food stores from San Diego to Ashland, Oregon.
