Sustainable Practices:

Our fine wines are produced exclusively from grapes grown at the Alder Springs Vineyard in Laytonville by Co-op members local to the Arcata/Eureka area for the last three decades.

The winery is located near Freshwater where the wine is made using hand methods. Violet-Green vinifies in small open-top fermenters managing the cap by hand.

The wines are aged on average of approximately 18 months in 100 percent French oak cooperage. All the wines are bottled unfiltered and unfiltered.

Alder Springs Vineyard is located in northern Mendocino county, seven miles inland of the Pacific Ocean.

Alder Springs grapes are hand harvested and meticulously cultivated in deep, well-drained soils.

Vineyard owner Stuart Bewley and his vigilant crew take painstaking year-round care of the vines from bud break to pruning. No effort is spared to produce only the most outstanding fruit possible. Synthetic pesticide use and sulfur are kept to an absolute minimum.
